

AUTHORS IN THIS ISSUE

Aleksandar KRASTEV – Senior lecturer at the Pleven College of Education, St Cyril and St. Methodius University of Veliko Tarnovo, Bulgaria. In 2013, he obtained a doctoral degree in educational and age psychology. He is currently a psychologist in a personal development support team at a regional centre for inclusive support education. Research interests: educational psychology and inclusive education. Member of the management board of the National Association of Resource Teachers in Bulgaria; member of the Society of Psychologists in Bulgaria.

Email: a.crustev@ts.uni-vt.bg; a_crustev@abv.bg

Hristo KYUCHUKOV – Academician, Professor of General Linguistics (Psycholinguistics) and Intercultural Education at the University of Silesia in Katowice, Poland. Head of the Roma Research Centre at the same university. Visiting professor at the Paisiy Hilendarski University of Plovdiv, Bulgaria. International consultant in psycholinguistics to the Institute of Linguistics of the Academy of Sciences of Kazakhstan. Research interests: neurodidactics; psycholinguistics; bilingualism; Romani language; Turkic languages; languages in contact; intercultural education of minorities, migrants and refugees. Scientific publications: approximately 800 publications in the fields of language education, psycholinguistics, sociolinguistics and minority studies.

Email: hkyuchukov@gmail.com; hristo.kyuchukov@us.edu.pl

Krisztina Kovács – PhD, Associate Professor at the Juhász Gyula University of Szeged (Hungary), Faculty of Education, Institute of Applied Pedagogy. Research interests: mentoring skills; early childhood education; 19th-century pedagogy; history of the education of students with mild intellectual disabilities. Scientific publications: “The Process of Formation of the Modern German and Hungarian School System and Elementary School Teacher Training in Germany and Hungary: A Comparison” (2023); “Students with Mild Intellectual Disability at the Turn of the 20th Century in Hungary” (2021); History of the Pedagogical Profession in the 19th Century (monograph, 2016), The Image of Pedagogues in Hungarian and German Pedagogy Books in the Age of Dualism (1867–1914) (dissertation), etc. Membership in scientific unions or organizations: Regional Committee of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences.

Email: kovacs.krisztina.agnes@szte.hu

Lilia TODOROVA – PhD, Associate Professor at the Faculty of Public Health and Health Care of the Angel Kanchev University of Ruse. Research interests: theoretical foundations of occupational therapy; occupational therapy for psychosocial dysfunction and learning disabilities; occupational therapy in inclusive education. Scientific productions: author and co-author of over 90 scientific papers: monograph, textbooks, study guides, journal articles and reports from national and international scientific forums.

Email: litod@uni-ruse.bg

Magdalena HADZHIEVA – PhD in Special Education; part-time lecturer at the Paisiy Hilendarski University of Plovdiv. She is also a speech therapist related to a counselling and therapeutic initiative called “Hvarchilo” (Kite) in Plovdiv. Scientific interests: support, education and services for children and young people with severe and profound intellectual and multiple disabilities and their families; qualification programmes for pedagogical specialists and social workers focused on working with children with severe and profound intellectual and multiple disabilities in Bulgaria.

Email: magdalena.vaneva@gmail.com

Margarita ASPARUHOVA-KANDILAROVA – Lecturer in Occupational Therapy at the Faculty of Public Health and Health Care of the Angel Kanchev University of Ruse. Research interests: occupational therapy for children with disabilities, occupational therapy in inclusive education. Scientific publications: research articles and reports from scientific conferences.

Email: masparuhova@uni-ruse.bg

Oksana USHAKOVA – Academician at the Moscow Academy of Sciences, Professor of Preschool Education at the Moscow State Pedagogical University, Russia. Research interests: Russian language; acquisition of syntax and semantics by preschool children. Scientific publications: hundreds of articles, monographs, methodological guides for teachers and textbooks for preschool children.

Email: oxu@bk.ru

Petya IVANOVA – PhD, Lecturer at the Theory of Education Department, Faculty of Education, St. Kliment Ohridski University of Sofia. Research interests: theory of education; family education; interaction with the family; work in extracurricular institutions; history of non-formal education. Scientific publications: studies, articles and reports from scientific conferences.

Email: p.ivanova@fp.uni-sofia.bg

Petya MINCHEVA – PhD, Associate Professor of Occupational Therapy at the Faculty of Public Health and Health Care of the Angel Kanchev University of Ruse. Research interests: occupational therapy in pediatrics and physical dysfunction. Scientific publications: author and co-author of 60 scientific papers: monograph, textbooks, study guides, journal articles and reports from national and international scientific conferences.

Email: pmincheva@uni-ruse.bg

Radostina SLAVCHEVA – PhD, Speech Therapist at Doctor Petar Beron School in Yambol, Bulgaria. Scientific interests: diagnostics and therapy of speech and language disorders; prevention of communication disorders; interactive technologies in speech therapy. Scientific publications: interactive aids for articulation therapy, audio-visual content for speech therapy, studies, articles and reports from scientific conferences.

Email: ll_joy@gmail.com; radost4j@gmail.com

Vasiliki PAPANIKOLAOU – PhD student at the Department of Pedagogy, Faculty of Education, St. Cyril and Methodius University of Veliko Tarnovo, Bulgaria. He has obtained a Master's degree in Special Education and Training from the Pedagogical Department of the University of Nicosia (UNIC), as well as in Management Business Administration from the Faculty of Economy and Social Sciences of the Paisiy Hilendarski University of Plovdiv, Bulgaria. He also holds a degree in Elementary Education and Foreign Languages, awarded by the Faculty of Pedagogy of the Paisiy Hilendarski University of Plovdiv, and in Agriculture from the University of Larissa in Thessaly, Greece. Since 2019, he has been working as an elementary school teacher at the Greek public schools in Athens, Sfakia on Crete, and Kozani. Research interests: special education; education of high school teenagers with disabilities; organization management.

Email: vasopap17@gmail.com

Velyana PENKOVA – PhD student at the Department of History and Management of Education, Faculty of Education, St. Kliment Ohridski University of Sofia, Bulgaria. She is a senior primary teacher, teacher of Early Foreign Language Education in English, economist and marketer with managerial and pedagogical experience gained at a Waldorf school. Research interests: Waldorf pedagogy; reform pedagogy.

Email: velyana.penkova.penkova@gmail.com